PAY UP FOR TV SWITCH

THOUSANDS of Harlow households watching television through the town's piped network will have to fork out hundreds of pounds to upgrade their viewing equipment when the service is switched off later this year.

Up to 26,000 homes currently have access to the free cable service run by Virgin Media which replaced the former master antenna cable television network installed in the 1970s.

Harlow Council had hoped to secure a deal with the media giant to continue to providing free-to-air channels post-digital switchover, originally claiming the provider was legally bound to do so according to the terms of its contract.

But following lengthy negotiations, Virgin has only agreed to extend the service for an extra eight months – meaning viewers have until December 31 to either install an aerial and set-top box to receive the Freeview signal or sign up to a paid-for subscription service.

However, in a move that will benefit vulnerable residents and those living in sheltered accommodation and council-owned tower blocks, the authority yesterday (Wednesday) unveiled plans to set aside £650,000 to help mitigate the costs of the switchover.

The cash will be used to install communal aerials on Harlow's 14 residential tower blocks and provide digital connections for the Freeview service in its sheltered housing schemes.

A fund will also be set up to subsidise the cost of aerials for other "vulnerable" residents not eligible for support through the Government-backed BBC Help Scheme, the details of which have yet to be finalised by the authority.

Council leader Andrew Johnson told the Star: "The date for digital switchover is nearly here so we are pleased to be able to give residents some breathing space as they decide which digital TV platform to go for."

"The reality is that nobody is going to be confronted with a blank TV screen next month. Instead, the council will work with Digital UK to ensure that householders know what the alternatives are."

"Our most vulnerable residents will get a connection to digital TV for free and, over the next few weeks, we will look to see if we can extend the offer of a free aerial to other analogue TV households."

Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson added: "This has long been an issue of concern for residents so I'm glad we are now in a position to tell them what they need to do to make the switch to digital television."

"This deal means there is extra time for people to make their choice about digital TV and understand the issues. Nobody is being rushed into choosing a provider."

Residents can find out more about digital TV viewing options by entering their postcode at www.digitaluk.co.uk or by phoning 08456 50 50 50.

Anyone aged 75 and over or claiming disability living allowance should contact the BBC Help Scheme on 0800 40 85 900 or at www.helpscheme.co.uk before it closes on May 18, 2012.

Medal winner Osagie has his sights set on Olympics

HARLOW athlete Andrew Osagie put himself firmly in the running for a medal at the London Olympics after winning a magnificent bronze in the 800m final at the World Indoor Championships in Turkey on Sunday.

Osagie (24), of Felmongers, gave a brilliant performance to finish a fraction of a second behind race winner Mohammed Aman and runner-up Jakub Holusa.

"I'm so happy to get a medal," said the Harlow Athletic Club member. "I knew going into the final I could sneak a medal but you never know what's going to happen."

He added: "This is not just a shot in the arm, this is a shot in the heart."

"It's going to be great for London."

Hosepipe ban on the way in bid to reduce water use

HARLOW could be hit by a hosepipe ban next month as the region braces itself for a parched spring.

Local supplier Veolia Water has joined six other companies in applying for restrictions on domestic water use as lower than average rainfall threatens to cause droughts across the south east.

If a temporary ban is approved by the Government, the domestic use of hosepipes and water sprinklers would be forbidden and residents barred from filling paddling pools or ponds.

Anyone found breaching the terms of the order, which is likely to come into force on April 5, could face prosecution and a fine of up to £1,000.

Veolia's water resources manager Mike Pocock said: "We have had less than 60 per cent of average rainfall this autumn and winter, which has been compounded by low rainfall in the previous year.

"Little of this rainfall has made its way through the soil and into the natural underground reservoir, which is where we take the majority of our water.

"By putting restrictions in place we aim to emphasise the situation and appeal to our customers to work with us to reduce their water use. If we all make small changes to reduce our water use, it can make a big difference."

Fancy a night out?

HARDY residents are being asked to spend a night under the stars to highlight the plight of the homeless.

Harlow charity Streets2Homes is calling for volunteers to join them for their sponsored sleepout at St Mary at Latton Church in The Gowers tomorrow (Friday).

The aim is to raise funds and awareness of the issues facing homeless people. It runs from 9.30pm until 6.30am with a breakfast provided at the end.

To register your interest or for more information, call Kerrie Eastman (01279) 430011.

Three hurt in crash

THREE people were taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital after a road accident in Harlow on Monday evening.

Two vehicles were involved in the crash in Southern Way at the junction with Longbanks. Ambulance crews from Harlow and Loughton attended the scene.

Fears wood is overrun with rats

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

WORRIED residents have voiced concerns over what they are describing as an "explosion" in the rat population in a patch of woodland near their homes.

According to people living near Oak Wood at Little Parndon, huge numbers of the rodents have been seen in the area.

Resident Marlene Brooks, of Fold Croft, said: "I have lived here over 50 years and I have never seen so many rats there. They run across the paths in broad daylight and nestle in the bushes near The Shark pub."

Marlene, who raised her concerns about the rat infestation on a Facebook group, has received more than 80 responses about the problem so far.

"I am particularly concerned as I wheel my little granddaughter through there in her pushchair and she is only inches away from the rats if they run out," she added.

Writing on the Facebook feed, Caz Carter said she had counted 12 rats in the woods during a recent visit.

"I was shocked to see them during the day," she wrote. "Yes, they are in the wild but even that needs to be controlled to some degree. Perhaps if people stopped dumping food it may help."

Parents of children using a woodland path to get to Little Parndon School have also expressed their concerns to headteacher Emma Bloomfield, who said she had contacted Harlow Council's environmental health department.

"Although we do not have any rats on the school premises we obviously share the concerns of our parents and the local community and want to ensure the issue is addressed as soon as possible," she said.

"The council assured me that someone would be investigating the matter and laying down traps as necessary."

A council spokesman confirmed that a pest control officer had visited the woods to investigate the cause of the problem and had already taken measures to control the rat population.

Tony Hall, the council's portfolio holder for environment, said: "The pest control officer has visited the area and started a baiting programme carefully designed to control rats without putting pets and wildlife at risk.

"While the treatment takes place we will continue to investigate and monitor the situation.

"The council is always happy to investigate

Mum's the word in race to beat cancer

ORGANISERS of this year's Harlow Race for Life are urging women to show much they care this Mother's Day by teaming up with their mums in the Cancer Research fundraiser.

And the pink-clad volunteers will be at the Water Gardens on Saturday to encourage mums, daughters, sisters, grandmothers and friends to sign up.

This year's Race for Life, which is again being supported by the Star, takes place in the Town Park on Sunday, May 20 when it is hoped 2,800 women will line up for either the 5km or 10km course.

"Mother's Day is the perfect opportunity to show your mum how much you care by securing places to take part in your local event together," said event manager Lucy Hynes.

"You will be able to cherish the mother and daughter time together fundraising, training and taking part, whilst also taking advantage of the ideal solution to the annual gift dilemma that helps to beat cancer at the same time."

Race for Life is open to women of all ages, shapes and sizes and you can choose to walk, jog or run either route. The cost to enter is £14.99 for adults and £10 for under 16s.

Lucy added: "Thanks to research into cancer, hundreds of thousands of lives have already been saved. With help from the people of Harlow, Cancer Research UK intends to save many more."

To register for the Harlow Race for Life visit www.raceforlife.org or call 0871 641 1111.

Friends' fundraiser for hospital charity

TWO women who have reason to be grateful to the life-saving medics at Great Ormond Street Hospital are organising a fundraising night as a way of saying thanks.

Gill Izzard (49) of Woodcroft, Harlow, and Carol McFarlane, of Bishop's Stortford, are planning a quiz night and entertainment for single people. The pair decided to raise money for the hospital's charity GOSH because of their first hand experience of its "incredible" work.

"When I was born I had a congenital defect with my bladder and kidneys and had to be rushed to Great Ormond Street to have what turned out to be a life-saving operation," said Gill, pictured right.

"It is because of the job they did back then that I have been able to live a long and healthy life and I'll never forget that. "Then, just before Christmas, Carol's great nephew was born with a life-threatening heart defect and had to be airlifted from Norfolk to GOSH and operated on.

"They again saved his life and have made it so that he, too, will be able to live fairly normally.

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"It was whilst talking about this that Carol and I decided it would be nice to put on some kind of event to raise money for GOSH as a way of saying thank you and to help others benefit from the incredible work they do."

The singles night, which is aimed at people over the age of 35, is being held in Hendersons Bar and Grill at Roydon Marina Village on Monday night. It will start with the quiz at 7pm, followed at 9pm by entertainment including a DJ and Michael Jackson tribute act Rory J.

"The night will be a lot of fun for single people without any pressure," said Gill. "Whether people want to do the whole evening or just come for the entertainment it doesn't matter, but the key thing is that everyone is able to kick back and enjoy themselves."

She added: "We would urge any single people over the age of 35 to grab your mates and come out for a good night raising money for a brilliant cause."

Tickets for the charity night cost £10 or £8 just for the entertainment. For more information, call Gill on 07504 301998.

Sign up for the Sport Relief Mile

SPORTS enthusiasts are being called on to fill 300 running places for Harlow's first ever Sport Relief Mile event.

The fundraiser is being organised by Harlow Council and Harlow Running Club with support from ActiveHarlow, and offers those taking part the chance to choose from a one, three or six-mile run.

Harlow Running Club secretary Colin Moody urged people to reserve their places as soon as possible.

"It's your chance to be a part of one of Britain's biggest fundraising events and will be a great day out for all the family," he said.

The charity run, one of hundreds taking place across the country, starts from the Showground in Harlow Town Park on Sunday, March 25. The start times are staggered for each distance, with the one-mile run beginning at 10.30am.

Entry costs £6 per adult, £3 per child or £15 for a family ticket. For more information, visit www.sportrelief.com.

Epilepsy group's job advice night

A CHARITY working to help people with epilepsy is raising awareness of the workplace support available for those affected by the condition.

The Harlow branch of Epilepsy Action will be holding a special work access night at their next monthly meeting to offer advice about finding work and to highlight the support and benefits available to make the process easier.

Branch chairwoman Marie Edgar explained: "We want to be able to support people with epilepsy to reach their full potential and to know where to seek help in doing so.

"Work is important to everyone as it helps develop valuable skills, experience and self confidence and so we feel help in finding work for people with disabilities is invaluable."

All are welcome to attend the meeting which is being held on Monday (March 19) at the Purford Green Community Centre in Bush Fair, starting at 7.30pm. For more information, call Marie on 078015 44520.

St Clare lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, March 9 is ticket holder 737308, who lives in Roydon.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 750246, who lives in Harlow.

Workmates switch to pedal power for bike challenge

THREE Sainsbury's workers from Harlow are saddling up for a challenge to cycle from John O'Groats to Land's End. Chris Dunn (41), of Joyner's Field, Mick Power (53), of Miles Close, and Nick D-Alton (41), of Woodhill, are joining three colleagues next week to attempt the 1,000-mile trek over 13 days.

The friends, who all work together at the supermarket chain's Rye Park distribution centre in Hoddesdon, are tackling the ride to raise money for Sports Relief.

Transport team manager Chris said the challenge held a special significance for him. "I suffered a stroke five years ago and had to go through the whole process of learning how to walk again," he explained.

"I still struggle with my balance but when I heard about this Sports Relief challenge I just knew I had to do it. It will be a real personal achievement for me and hopefully the start of many events like this to come. I am really looking forward to it."

Mick, learning co-ordinator at the company, said he couldn't wait to get started.

"Apart from the distance, the hills and the weather conditions everything should be fine!" he said. "Seriously though, I think we are all feeling reasonably confident and are eager to just get going now.

"Hopefully the adrenaline plus the incredible views and the fact that we are together will help get us to the finish one way or another."

They hope to raise £5,000 towards Sports Relief backed-projects across the world. To sponsor the team, visit their webpage at www.my.sportrelief.com/sponsor/sainsburysryeparkjogle2012/.

Jobs at risk as council agrees £82m 'clean and green' deal

COUNCIL chiefs have unveiled a package of measures to keep the town "clean and green" after extending its partnership deal with works contractor Kier.

A total of £670,000 will be pumped into hedge-trimming, ward improvements, rubbish removal, weed spraying and the conversion of all bins across the town into dual-purpose receptacles for general rubbish and dog waste.

A permanent team will also be set up to tackle the town's litter hotspots, while an extra winter works programme to manage shrub beds and brambles is set to be launched in the autumn.

Cabinet members revealed the plans at a specially-convened meeting on Monday night after approving a three-year contract extension for Kier Harlow Ltd – the joint venture company it set up with Kier Services Ltd back in 2007 – worth £82.6m.

The deal shaves 5.1 per cent off the original anticipated lifetime cost of the contract and is expected to save the authority £4.4m over the next five years, although it is believed that up to 24 workers now face redundancy.

Despite the job losses, the council's portfolio holder for resources Simon Carter said the partnership represented "great value for money".

"Harlow people rightfully expect us to make their money work hard and we think they'll be pleased with a deal that delivers more for less," he said.

"This is a deal that saves them more than £4m while delivering substantial new investment where they want it.

"Residents tell us that clean streets and open spaces are a top priority for them, so innovations like the new environment team will tackle problems as they arise."

He added: "Harlow was planned and built with greenery at its heart, and the contract extension will also protect and enhance that."

But Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson described the £670,000 investment as a "sham".

"All the Tory administration are doing is restarting some of the projects like hedge-trimming and bramble clearing it pulled the plug on a couple of years ago," he told the Star. "Meanwhile, 24 members of Kier Harlow's staff are being laid off."

"I fail to see how cutting jobs will result in an improved service."

Posters appeal in rape investigation

DETECTIVES are renewing their appeal for information following a rape in Harlow.

Ten weeks on from the attack in Commons Road, officers have put up posters in the vicinity in a bid to jog people's memories.

The 23-year-old victim had left the nearby Chequers pub shortly after 11.30pm on Friday, December 30 and was walking home when she was sexually assaulted.

Detective Inspector Martin Pasmore said: "We have two points of appeal, the first to any customers at the pub who saw this woman inside and then leave, and the second to anyone who saw the assault."

The attacker is described as white, of chubby build, with a close-shaved head and black stubble.

Anyone with information should contact the Harlow Major Investigation Team on 101.

New operators ready to take over services

UPDATED plans on how five of Harlow Council's discretionary services will operate when they are handed over to new operators at the start of next month have been unveiled by the authority.

As part of the council's cost-cutting Big Society initiative, Harlow Museum, Parndon Wood Nature Reserve, the arts service and the events service will be transferred to their new voluntary sector operators from April 1.

But according to the proposals scrutinised by members of the council's select committee on Monday, Pets' Corner will remain under the authority's control at least until September while plans for its long-term future are finalised with the Harlow Education Consortium.

The handover of the services is expected to save the authority more than £400,000, with new operators receiving one-off contributions from a £1m pot set aside by the council to support service delivery over the next three years.

vicky.lane@hertsexnews.co.uk

It will then be up to each provider to implement a sustainable business plan to safeguard the long-term future of the services, much of which will depend on the availability of external grant funding.

Joel Charles, the council's portfolio holder for community and citizenship, described the fine-tuned plans as "very exciting".

"As the handover for discretionary services approaches we are seeing some very exciting detail in the business plans of our new providers," he told the Star.

"In the case of the museum, we are keeping a continued archive service at Mark Hall and a community trust will run the building and gardens offering public access.

"Residents can also look forward to the grand opening of the new Harlow Museum service next month in the Science Alive centre at Leisurezone.

"For users of the arts and events services and Parndon Wood, they won't notice any change when these services transfer - it will be business as usual. Pets' Corner will also operate as normal while we continue to work with Harlow Education Consortium with the aim of a September transfer."

He added: "Above all, the good news for Harlow residents is that these popular services, together with The Playhouse and paddling pools, will keep running despite the massive financial pressures faced by the council.

"We have set out a long term plan for the town's community services which means future generations will be able to enjoy them for years to come."

Housing plan is a disgrace

SIR, Crest Nicholson are pledged to greener living and improving the quality of life for individuals and communities. Blighting the lives of individuals and communities for profit is more correct.

This company is obviously not in tune with the financial situation of the people of this country.

The councils involved with this development are cash-strapped and the very last thing they want is to find thousands of pounds of provide the services needed for such a development.

Forget "affordable" housing as it does not exist, it is a political ploy. Those living in so-called affordable housing cannot now afford to.

A few years ago the average mortgage was 3½ times average earnings. Now it is six times the average earnings with a very hefty deposit.

The Bank of England interest rate is low which helps those who are over-extended borrowers. With the cost of living rising almost weekly, as everyone will have noticed, the Bank of England will have to raise the interest rate. That prospect is dire for homeowners and landlord in the buy-to-let market. Thousands – and it will be thousands – will default on their payments.

Ninety per cent of UK mortgages rates are variable. Mortgage rates for some have already risen causing hardship and possibly default and that is without any rise in the interest rate by the Bank of England.

House prices depend upon how much credit is available. Banks are not going to lend money for mortgages when thousands are in default of their payments. Mortgages are difficult to come by now but in a year's time they will be impossible.

Stop the West Sumners development in its tracks. It will bring inconvenience and misery to many and not a single benefit to anyone, not even Crest Nicholson which will find its aspirations for this project unobtainable. To submit these plans at this time is an absolute disgrace.

Too many horses on common

SIR, As a horse lover I enjoy seeing a few horses on Latton Common but of late things seem to have got a bit out of hand.

Once there was about a dozen or so but at the last count there was 34 and that number was growing.

Low paid are always in the frontline at times of cuts

SIR, I would like to clear up what is possibly a popular misconception regarding the importance of council housing.

It is a fact of life that there will always be a majority of the population who will never be able to afford the deposit on a house of their own. However, we have the same rights as the people who can and we are entitled to affordable accommodation in which to live our lives.

I do not refer to people who lack guts or ambition but to the generally low paid who are always in the frontline when cuts are applied and find themselves redundant, not always for the first time, and to others who apply for jobs unsuccessfully in a shrinking jobs market.

I'm happy Ian Kennett (Letters,

February 23) feels we have the council we deserve and I hope he remains lucky.

Gill Morris
Amherst Lodge, Harlow

SIR, Having read Ian Kennett's letter and the response from John Wildish last week, I totally agree with what John said.

It made me very angry when I read the letter from Mr Kennett. Has he got no compassion for the majority of people who are not so fortunate to be able to afford to buy a home for reasons like low wages, poor health, redundancy and unemployment or who, like myself, live in a council house?

He said it takes guts and ambition but he hasn't got a clue. There are a lot of families out here in the real world who would love to own their own homes but circumstances prevail.

Think yourself lucky, Mr Kennett, and give a thought to others less fortunate than yourself.

Name and address supplied

SIR, I am deeply disturbed by Ian Kennett's letter. As an individual suffering from mental health issues, I think it clearly shows he has no idea of how real people are forced to live with issues such as mine which precludes me from getting work.

Even with the law that should stop discrimination against people with poor mental health I find it very difficult to get a job with my disability. I am sending untold CV's every week for job vacancies but this does not stop the constant harassment from Harlow Council trying to get blood from a stone, even when I cannot sometimes afford to eat and sometimes have to sit in darkness.

Many millions of people take a low paid job to try to maintain some sort of pride and integrity rather than sponge off the state. With the thousands that leave school and those laid off work, thousands of people sending applications in for the same jobs.

Mr Kennett needs a reality check. He should walk a mile in my shoes and try living the existence I live rather than thinking he is better than those that live in council or rented bedsits.

All men are born equal but circumstance and the Government cause this segregation of those that have and those that do not.

POST: Star Letters, 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex CM20 1JW EMAIL: star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Surely there must be a limit to how many horses can be grazed there.

They have decimated large parts of the common and are spreading out on to the little field behind the Royal British Legion. This is where the children play and it has now become a no-go area because of all the manure and the fear the children have of the horses.

Not everyone is happy around horses and it is difficult to walk anywhere on the common without having to dodge round them. This seems extremely unfair to the people who just want to enjoy a nice walk. Last Thursday, four of them were galloping along Southern Way and two articulated lorries had to pull up sharply when they galloped across the road onto the grass verge at Holy Cross School.

The commons in Harlow are for all the public to enjoy and to allow certain people to take over large swards of it does not seem fair.

I wonder if I would be allowed to graze a horse of mine there; I don't think so somehow. Come on Harlow Council, sort it out so everyone gets a fair deal.

C. Lomas
Radburn Close, Harlow

New road safety hazard

SIR, Many Church Langley residents are very unhappy about the decimation of their roadside bushes, as reported in the Star (March 1). It seems to be another case of car driver versus pedestrian.

Car drivers complain that they can't see clearly at road junctions because the bushes have grown too tall so the council digs them up and replaces them with grass. After all, that will also save money maintaining the bushes.

The powers-that-be fail to realise that they have now created a different road safety danger because the bushes stopped both children (and adults) from crossing the main road at junctions which are notorious places for road accidents, the point made by serving police traffic officer David Martin in the article.

When I first visited Church Langley I was impressed with the grass and shrubs by the roadside. In recent years the grass is cut less frequently than ever and no longer looks good, but low-growing planting of shrubs would require even less attention

Tax rise is an easy option

SIR, This is an open letter to the Chief Constable of Essex Police.

In a time of austerity I was amazed to find that you have increased your portion of council tax by a massive 3.47 per cent. It appears that you and your management team are unaware that the UK is undergoing a recession so I would like to bring to you up-to-date with the realities of Britain in 2012.

Millions of people in this country are having their wages frozen and others are losing their jobs at a time of rampant inflation and record high petrol prices. This means many Essex residents are struggling to heat their homes, feed their families and pay their bills.

Other Essex authorities have realised that this is a time of hardship and have frozen their portion of the council tax. Yet you have again taken the easy option of dipping in to what you seem to believe is a bottomless bucket of taxpayers' cash rather than take the difficult decision that would make the necessary savings within your force.

Improved fiscal management rather than increasing the burden on local taxpayers should have been the way you dealt with any financial shortfall. We both know that in an organisation of your size there is still waste and areas where costs reductions can be made without affecting frontline resources.

Organisations in the private sector which do not have access to hard-pressed taxpayers' cash have to make tough decisions to reduce their costs and I would like to see some indication that your organisation is doing the same. Other forces – Suffolk, Surrey and the West Midlands – are looking to outsource some of their activities in an attempt to save money and I suggest this is also an option for your force.

With the current performance of you and your management team, it seems the only hope for Essex taxpayers lies in the proposed election of police and crime commissioners because the people of Essex definitely need someone to act as their voice and to hold you and your force to account.

Fuel duty has been cut

SIR, I am grateful to George Irving for raising the high cost of petrol and diesel in his letter to the Star last week.

As I have said frequently to the Government and in Parliament, the average Harlow motorist is paying a tenth of their income just to fill up the family car.

Over the past 18 months I have done everything I can to get the price of petrol down. I have organised a House of Commons debate which was supported by over 120 MPs, and with FairFuelUK I have run an e-petition that now has over 140,000 signatures. As a result, not only did the Government cut fuel duty in the last budget but it also stopped the planned 4p per litre rise this January. Even with petrol prices having gone up, fuel duty is now a full 10p per litre cheaper than the last Labour government planned it to be. This has saved most Harlow families £144 this year.

Finally, I have urged the Office of Fair Trading to launch an inquiry into the behaviour of big oil companies. Petrol prices in Harlow are far too high and large oil firms bear their fair share of responsibility.

Sanctions drive prices up

SIR, I gather that our MP Robert Halfon professes locally to want to see lower petrol prices yet nationally he seems to be doing all he can to increase them.

Not only is he an advocate of sanctions against one of the world's largest oil producing countries in the world – namely Iran – but is advocating that our country considers a war with this country.

With the threat of sanctions, oil prices have reached record heights. Our sabre rattling MP is only going to make matters worse while crying crocodile tears about petrol prices for the motorist.

Every little helps, but who?

SIR, Returning from Suffolk last Thursday, I pulled into a Tesco filling station to top up with diesel for the return journey to Harlow. The filling station is located just off the A12 at Ipswich.

Imagine my surprise at the difference in price within the same company. The price at Ipswich Tesco was £1.41.9p per litre while at Harlow Tesco was £1.46.9p per litre.

Exactly who does the “every little helps” actually help?

Tories robbing the poor

SIR, Robert Halfon should read the excellent article “Read this and prepare to fight for your NHS” by Dr Max Pemberton in the Daily Telegraph on February 27 and let us know his view of it.

I remember he called the Chancellor's last budget a Robin Hood budget. My pension and the winter fuel allowances were cut. At the school I went to they taught us Robin Hood robbed the rich and gave to the poor, not the other way round.

Our walls fail safety test

SIR, Years ago our houses were built in Fold Croft and are known to have faulty outer walls. About 20 years ago those people who had bought found they couldn't resell and the council had to pay to make good the walls.

We are not allowed to have a mortgage until ours are done but after a 25-year wait for the repair we aren't holding our breath. We have been put in band A for council tax because of the walls.

Now we come to the digital switchover problem. Although we are eligible for help under the BBC scheme to have an aerial put up and one TV converted as my husband is disabled, the switchover engineer came and said that because of the walls we fail the safety regulation. They cannot do the work as the walls won't hold the ladder needed to allow the engineer to do his work.

I contacted Harlow Council and was visited by a representative who said that while he acknowledged this is correct and the walls were indeed faulty, there is nothing in place to help this to be done. Scaffolding would be too expensive and he could not sanction any financial help.

We will need to dip into our savings to pay to have it done privately. We are lucky to be able to pay for this but what about our 90-year-old neighbour who is on benefits and can't afford the £200 to have it done privately?

Thanks for your generosity

SIR, May I thank the customers of the Harlow Garden Centre for their generosity when members of the Harlow Lions Club made a collection on behalf of Marie Curie Cancer Care on Saturday, March 10.

More than £200 was raised for this very good cause.

We would also like to thank the garden centre and its staff for the warm welcome they gave us and for looking after us so well.

MP calls for travel card extension

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has launched a campaign calling on the Government to extend the Oyster travel card network to the town.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The Tory backbencher claims it is “only fair” that passengers travelling between Harlow and the capital are given the option of using the smart-card system, which offers users lower fares and the convenience of ticketless travel.

His call for the ‘Oysterisation’ of Harlow-bound services comes after new train operator Greater Anglia, which took over the rail franchise from National Express earlier this year, unveiled Government-backed plans to introduce the scheme at Hertford East station.

“It is only fair that commuters and passengers living in Harlow are offered the same benefits as those living just down the road in Hertford,” he said.

“The Oysterisation of services between Harlow and London would make travel more convenient for tens of thousands of commuters living in the town and potentially give them access to cheaper fares.”

Mr Halfon has raised the issue in the House of Commons during a debate in which Transport Secretary Justine Greening said £45m of Government funding had already been set aside to extend the smart-card scheme further into the south east.

Mr Halfon added: “I was encouraged by her response and I will be meeting with her in the near future to see what can be done to secure the necessary funding to introduce the Oyster scheme to Harlow as soon as possible.”

A spokesman for Greater Anglia said that although the firm currently had no plans to introduce Oyster at Harlow, it would be happy to meet Mr Halfon to discuss the possibility of extending the scheme in the future.

“As part of our existing franchise we are planning to extend Oyster PAYG to include Hertford East on the West Anglia route and to Shenfield on the GE mainline route,” he said.

“There are no current plans to extend further. However, we will be pleased to discuss with Mr Halfon future aspirations for development of smartcard ticketing.”

Charity marks office move with open day

A CHARITY helping people suffering from mental illness marked the official opening of its new headquarters in Harlow with an open day on Monday.

Almost 150 people dropped into West Essex Mind's premises at Corner House, Bush Fair, to find out more about the work carried out by the organisation in the community.

Staff and volunteers were on hand throughout the day to offer help and advice on self-referral and information about talking therapies which include face-to-face counselling, reading groups, cognitive behavioural therapy and employment workshops.

Charity chief executive

Alison Wilson said the day had been a tremendous success. “We were overwhelmed by the number of people who turned up to find out more about the services we offer,” she said.

“We were really pleased to see so many people from the local area drop in and say hello. It's part of our mission to engage with the local community and the open day was the perfect way to start our work in Harlow.”

Man attacked as muggers steal his phone and iPod

POLICE are hunting muggers who attacked and robbed a man in Harlow in the early hours of the morning.

The 33-year-old victim was walking in Willowfield at about 1.30am on Friday, March 2 when he was approached by four men.

One of them punched him while a second demanded he empty his pockets. They took his iPod, mobile phone and wallet which contained cash and a driving licence.

The first suspect is described as white, in his mid-to-late-20s, about 5ft 11ins tall and with short blond hair in a French crop style. He was wearing a grey top and grey tracksuit bottoms.

The second man is described as 5ft 8ins tall, of medium build, with short, dark receding hair. He was also wearing a grey top and grey tracksuit bottoms.

Anyone with information about the robbery should contact PC Tim Hawley at Harlow police station on 101.

STORYBOOK characters were brought to life in schools across Harlow when pupils dressed up to celebrate World Book Day.

Harry Potter, Angelina Ballerina, princesses and superheroes were just some of the fictional favourites wandering the corridors of ST JAMES' PRIMARY in Paringdon Road (above left), ST ALBAN'S

Members of staff also took up the challenge, with nursery workers at Schoolgate making an effort to follow a Peter Pan theme to raise money for Great Ormond Street Hospital.

The pupils also used the day to recommend and review their favourite books to their friends while learning about the importance of reading.

Shirley Arnold, English teacher at St James', said World Book Day was always an exciting event for the children.

"It was great fun and we are very proud of the pupils and staff at St James who embraced the day and dressed up as their favourite book character," she said.

FAWBERT & BARNARD'S Pupils and teachers are thrilled to have had their involvement with the London Olympics officially acknowledged with a special plaque.

The London Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games awarded the London Road school with a plaque and certificate in recognition of their involvement in the London 2012 Get Set Network education programme.

The scheme, which has been taken up by a number of schools and colleges across the country, aims to promote the Olympic values of friendship, excellence and respect and also the Paralympic values of inspiration, courage, determination and equality.

P.E. teacher Laura Bland said: "We are delighted to be involved with the 2012 Get Set Network and are keen to develop the Olympic principle of a lasting legacy that inspires young people."

KIDDI CARU Raising money for charity was a doddle for doodling youngsters at the Kiln Lane nursery.

They showed off their artistic flair to support National Doodle Day in aid of Epilepsy Action. Using a range of creative materials, they each produced works which were then auctioned off to their proud parents. They raised a total of £120.

"It was a really good day and all the children did an excellent job with their canvases," said spokesperson Layla Tweedie. "We definitely have some budding artists amongst the group."

She added: "It was particularly nice as it was something a little bit different to raise money for a good cause."

Hospital missing A&E target times

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital is regularly failing to hit Government-set targets for A&E treatment times, according to figures published by the Department of Health.

The statistics, which are updated weekly, show the Harlow hospital is falling short of the national benchmark of treating at least 95 per cent of emergency patients within four hours.

Of the 1,641 patients attending A&E in the week ending March 4 – the latest data available – only 82.4 per cent were seen within the set timeframe, while 288 people were forced to wait longer.

A trawl of the Department of Health's data archives shows the hospital last hit the target more than four months ago in the week ending October 23, with the rate dropping to as low as

chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

66.2 per cent in the first week of January.

But a PAH spokesman blamed the trust's below-par performance on a treacherous winter and claimed patients were already starting to see "significant improvements" in waiting times as spring approaches.

"Princess Alexandra Hospital met the 95 per cent four-hour wait target for the first six months of 2011/12," she said. "However, the trust was under significant pressure over the winter period which unfortunately impacted on the times patients waited for treatment in A&E."

"Through the hard work of our staff and our partners in the NHS, we are now seeing significant improvements in the times patients are waiting and remain committed to achieving the target."

PAH's performance has been criticised by Harlow Labour Party, with prospective Parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride claiming the problem would intensify if the Government's Health & Social Care Reform Bill was passed.

"Labour set targets of 98 per cent for 'blue light' emergencies to be treated within four hours so that people could feel confident that they would be treated quickly," she said. "Now the target is 95 per cent and not only is PAH not meeting that, it is near the bottom of the league table for this measure."

"As these figures show, Harlow MP Robert Halfon is out of touch when he claims there are lower waiting times and just wrong when he claims the Government's reckless reorganisation will result in less bureaucracy."

"He is playing politics with the wishes of doctors, nurses and patients in a drive to privatise the NHS."

But Mr Halfon hit back, claiming the planned restructure of the NHS would enable the trust to pump more money into improving its A&E service.

"The facts about waiting times at PAH are that more than 93 per cent of Harlow patients have been seen faster than four hours this year," he told the Star. "I accept there have been a few problem days when a lot of flu was going round, but the trust is taking action."

"They have stepped up their urgent care centre and are also doing much more through GP surgeries and pharmacies."

"This Government's NHS reforms and extra investment have brought in an extra £24m into our local health service. This is money that can be spent improving our A&E service, investment that was opposed by Labour."

MY VIEW FROM WESTMINSTER

by Robert Halfon MP

AS regular readers of the Star will know, I have campaigned for a number of years for Harlow housing for Harlow people and Harlow housing money for Harlow people.

I am glad to say the Government has listened and local people will now be given priority on the waiting lists over those from outside.

Moreover, the law has been changed so that social housing money raised in Harlow will be spent in our town. In practice, this means that £13m+ Harlow Council raises in rents will be spent in our community, rather than sent to Scotland and the North, as happened under Gordon Brown.

Secondly, the Government will make it radically easier for tenants to own their own home. From this year, council tenants will be able to buy their homes and get up to £75,000 off the market price.

The current Right to Buy discount will be trebled across the UK and the price of homes will be slashed by as much as half after five years' tenancy. The aim is to reverse years of declining discounts under Labour.

All the cash raised from people purchasing their homes will be spent building new social houses for Harlow so we won't go back to the bad old days of housing shortages.

This makes Harlow housing money for Harlow people a reality.

The Government is also going to bring in laws to pay tenants up to £500 a year if they fix minor faults such as leaky taps. Residents will get reimbursed for costs such as tools and paint and could be sponsored through basic DIY courses.

Rather than having to wait for landlords to act, tenants will be allowed to solve problems in their homes – and get paid for it. Moreover, social tenants now have the legal right for the first time to start a business in their own home.

READERS will know from last week that I had a meeting with train company Abellio who promised there will be no cuts in train services.

I have been stepping up the pressure on the Government to extend the Oyster card system that is used on the London Underground to Harlow. This would make life easier for commuters as Oyster tickets are much cheaper than traditional paper tickets.

The Minister for Transport has agreed to meet with me to see if some of the £45m extra investment in the Eastern Region can be put towards this scheme.

I hope to work very closely with the Star in the weeks ahead to make the case for much more train investment in Harlow. If you have ideas for improvements, please email me at halfon4harlow@roberthalfon.com.

Crufts pair are winning team

A HARLOW schoolgirl and her beloved Border Collie proved every dog has its day after walking away with a top prize at Crufts.

Katie Heath (13), of Rushton Grove, Church Langley, and her prizewinning pet Woody fought off competition from scores of other entrants to scoop the coveted Elementary Obedience award at Birmingham's NEC Arena over the weekend. Katie, who attends St Nicholas School in Churchgate Street, was left beaming with pride after their performance in the Young Kennel Club ring at the world-famous dog show.

"It is a massive shock to have won the whole thing," she said. "I'm so pleased because I was not expecting this sort of a result at all."

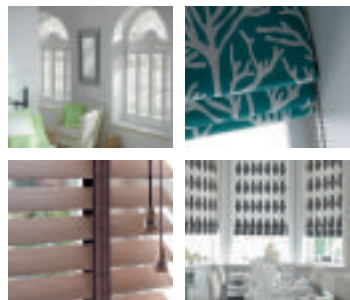

"As a reward I am going to give Woody a massive dinner, probably a big plate of chicken because I'm so proud of him!"

Disgraced peer set for return to Lords

THE former leader of Essex County Council jailed for falsely claiming almost £14,000 in expenses will return to the House of Lords next month. Lord Hanningfield (71) was jailed for nine months after being found guilty of expenses fraud last July. He was released on licence in September.

He was suspended from the House of Lords when a separate inquiry found he had wrongly claimed £30,254. However, he will be allowed to take up his seat again following the Easter recess after repaying the money.

Lord Hanningfield was also forced to resign as shadow business spokesman in the Upper House and had the Conservative whip withdrawn when he was charged. He is currently the subject of a police investigation into alleged fraud relating to his county council expenses.

Co-op team up for fun night at Midnight Walk

IF you're thinking about taking part in this year's St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk but have yet to sign up, there is still time to take advantage of the early bird special discounted registration rate.

Applications have been pouring in from people keen to 'do it in the dark' in Harlow on Saturday, June 16.

Among them are a team from the Co-op Pharmacy at The Stow who are hoping to top the amount they raised when they took part in last year's walk. With the Co-op agreeing to match the amount they collected in sponsorship, they were able to present the Hastingwood hospice with £1,000.

Dispensing technician Gerda Jennings said: "We have customers who have used St Clare and we like to support it."

To register online, visit www.stclarehospice.org.uk/midnight. To be sent a registration form, call (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk

"The walk is great fun with all the flashing lights and we wear the T-shirt and the pink bunny ears. It's a good walk and everyone taking part gets lots of support from people clapping and drivers sounding their car horns!"

The 10km walk event, which is once again supported by the Star, is now in its fifth year and is the biggest night-time fundraiser in Harlow.

It starts and finishes at the Water Gardens and this year organisers hope to attract 1,350 walkers with a target of raising £90,000 for the care the hospice provides.

And if you sign up before the end of March you can benefit from the '2 for £20' offer. Entry usually costs £15 each but with the special promotion two people can register for £20.

Tracy Stratford, St Clare's events organiser, said this week: "We are so grateful to teams like the Co-op Pharmacy who want to raise money for the hospice whilst having fun with their friends."

"Before working at the hospice I took part in the Midnight Walk with some of my friends and we had a great time buying pink tutus and fairy wings and painting our faces to get into the spirit!"

"Just before we set off on the walk it was very touching to hear a young man's story about how the hospice cared for his wife before she died there. It certainly inspired us to complete the walk knowing that every step we took was helping raise funds for the hospice's patients and their families."

"So whether you have had experience of using the hospice or just want an excuse to have some fun with friends, I urge you to sign up this month whilst we have our '2 for £20' promotion."

St Clare Hospice currently only receives 24 per cent of funding from the NHS towards its £2.7m annual running costs.

Shia Muslims' gift to hospice

AN Essex-based Shia Muslim group has raised £1,000 for St Clare Hospice.

Members of Muslim Shia Ithna Asheri Jammah of Essex meet every year during the sacred month of Muharram to remember the martyrdom of Hussein, grandson of the Prophet Muhammed, who was killed alongside his family more than 1,300 years ago.

Group member Dr Qamar Abbas explained: "Remembrance of Hussein and his family is the time to reflect on the concept of suffering of humankind."

"While we as Shia Muslims remember their suffering, they express strongly their rejection of atrocities of any kind. It is, therefore, highly appropriate that we contribute to an organisation whose ethos is to alleviate the suffering of people affected by life-limiting illnesses."

Hospice chief executive Tanya Curry said: "The support of our community is really crucial as we continue to provide much needed, free services to people of all beliefs, backgrounds and cultures."

I've still got toy dog in the photo

But this week we can finally unravel the mystery of the 1981 show after pinning down one of the performers in the picture from the Museum of Harlow archives.

Mandy Jacobs identifies herself as the lady in the bobble hat holding the toy dog.

"I have been told by one of my colleagues in the photo that the show was called 'A Hot Winter Bottle' and remember it was all about exploring play," she explained.

"We built a den out of the ladders and the idea was to show children how to use their imaginations and various items to create something fun. The dog I am holding was the most precious prop in the show, though.

"I was given him when I was three by a friend of my father's and I still have him today, although he's a little worse for wear!"

All four people in the photograph – Mandy, Les Davidof (top left),

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Lorraine Hilton (top right) and Michael Szpakowski – were professional actors who had a full-time position with the Theatre Van group.

"We were a community theatre and education company so all of our shows were put on in order to raise awareness on some important issue or provide information, and also to encourage an interest in performance work," said Mandy.

"We would run lots of different projects in the town and even took some of the shows, which were usually devised by the company itself, across to Harlow's twin town Velizy to perform."

Now working with people with learning disabilities as well as teaching at inclusive Harlow drama group Razed Roof, Mandy says she believes the work she did with Theatre Van had a major influence on what she does today.

"It was definitely my work with Theatre Van that gave me a taste for working with people with learning disabilities," she said. "I did it for almost six years before leaving to have a baby and I am so pleased to have had that experience."

I was the lucky winner of a ticket to the London Olympics - in 1948

WITH only 134 days left until this year's London Olympics, most people are looking forward to the world's biggest sporting event coming to the UK this summer.

However, following our recent request on behalf of Holy Cross Catholic School for any residents who remember the last London Olympics in 1948 to get in touch, one resident has been busy looking back on the Games.

"I was very lucky to have attended the Olympics at Wembley in 1948," writes Mrs E. Whittington of Elderfield, Harlow.

"I worked at Victoria Wines head office in Ballards Lane, Finchley Central and they were given two tickets in a raffle. I was the lucky winner of one of those tickets.

"It was a wonderful day that I shall never forget, and to see the flame was just magical."

● Do you have any stories or photographs from the 1948 London Olympics? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Can you put old friends back in touch?

DO you know someone by the name of Sally Ann Leese? Nostalgia has received another request to help two old friends get back in touch.

"I am looking for a lost friend who I went to school with," writes Thelma Aspden (nee Nixon) of Lancashire.

"Her name at school was Sally Ann Leese and she was born in August 1977. She went to school in Epping but the last I heard she had moved to Harlow.

"We were best friends but lost touch after getting married so I would really like to get in contact with her again."

Thelma adds: "I've tried so many ways to find her but have had no success so I was really hoping someone might read her name in the Star and get the message out to her that I am trying to find her."

Can you help bring the best friends back together? Write to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

1987 25 years ago in the Harlow Star

➤ A Harlow woman said she fears for the safety of her four-month-old grandson after stray dogs savaged the family's pet rabbit. The bunny called Stanley died just hours after the dogs jumped into the family's back garden and attacked him.

➤ International Women's Day was celebrated in Harlow on Sunday with a programme of non-stop entertainment at The Playhouse. Banners were also put on display in the gallery. They included features on women suffragettes and the wives of miners.

➤ Pupils from most of the town's schools were expected to be sent home because of a half-day strike by teachers. The union protest was held to show opposition to the Government's Pay and Conditions Bill. However, not all teachers had been able to attend after information was held up in the post.

➤ A crew of six Harlow firefighters tried to free jammed doors on the doomed Herald of Free Enterprise ferry nearly five years ago, a report has found. The crew were on the channel crossing to visit the Harlow's twin town Velizy when the disaster, which claimed the lives of 193 passengers and crew members, Wartime marriage was made to last!

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUPLE who tied the knot during the Second World War have celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary.

When Bob Quelch (89) married his sweetheart Rose (88) at a registry office in Liverpool Road on March 7, 1942, it wasn't a big affair as he was on 48 hours leave from the Royal Air Force.

But despite being separated for most of their early years as man and wife, the couple – who now live in The Fortunes, Harlow – proved that absence really does make the heart grow fonder.

During the war Bob made regular flights over Europe and was later captured and imprisoned in Germany.

"It was obviously wonderful when he finally got back from the war and we have been very happy all the years since," said Rose.

"We had two sons together and are now the proud grandparents to five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren."

According to Rose, the key thing to a happy marriage is respect.

"It is also important not give up at the first sign of trouble," she added. "Marriage is about give and take and supporting each other through the bad times."

Burglar confronted by victim flees with pieces of jewellery

A BURGLAR who broke into a property in Harlow fled after being confronted by the householder.

The intruder gained entry to the house in Commons Road by smashing the glass in a patio door with a brick. Once inside he ransacked a bedroom but as he came downstairs he was confronted by the householder.

He managed to escape with a quantity of Indian jewellery. The burglary took place between 11.45am and 12.15pm last Wednesday (March 7).

Investigating officer PC James Smith said: "Fortunately the victim was not harmed but as you can imagine it gave him a nasty shock."

"I am appealing to anyone who was in the area or who was travelling along Commons Road close to The Chequers pub around the time and date to contact me. In particular, I am after anyone who saw a man carrying carrier bags or a pillowcase to call me urgently."

The burglar is described as white, 6ft tall and of medium build. He was wearing a light-coloured top. Anyone with any information should contact PC James Smith at Harlow police station on 101.

Join the litter pickers

VOLUNTEERS are being sought for a community-led spring clean taking place in Harlow later this month.

Community groups and individuals are needed for the event which is being organised by the Safer Harlow Partnership on Saturday, March 31. Litter pickers and bags will be provided.

Afterwards, all those taking part will be invited to lunch at Café Youth.

To register to take part, contact Marina Sherriff on (01279) 446655.

Exhibition will be ideal place for local firms to do business

HARLOW Business Exhibition is a networking opportunity local firms cannot afford to miss.

That's the message from the organisers who this week named eight key sponsors of this summer's annual showcase.

The Star has joined NatWest, Harlow Council, London Stansted, Anglia Ruskin University, Ashbourne Insurance, Bailey Book-keeping and The Sowerby Group in backing the town's premier business event which takes place at The Manor Of Groves Hotel in High Wych on June 12.

The annual expo, which has gone from strength to strength since its launch in 2010, will provide local firms with a unique, cost-efficient platform to promote their business and forge new contacts.

Nick Barton, managing director of London Stansted, said the airport was proud to be supporting such a "vital" event in the town's business calendar.

"It is a vital business and networking event for the local community and we're delighted to be sponsoring it for another year," he said.

Sarah Smits, finance director at Ashbourne Insurance, added: "We have been in business for over 30 years and highly value the opportunity to meet face-to-face with as many local businesses as possible. The Harlow Business Exhibition provides the perfect setting."

This year's event will also receive the backing of Anglia Ruskin University for the first time.

Spokeswoman Tracy Armstrong explained the university's involvement: "An increasing number of employers are looking for new ways to improve their workforce with regards to higher education and degree level study, and the work-based learning we provide is an excellent way for them to do this."

A limited number of stands are still available for the event. For more information on package prices or advertising opportunities, visit www.harlowbusinessexhibition.co.uk or contact event organisers The Sowerby Group on (01279) 408669.

Old boat to sail again

A REPLICA of the world's oldest sea-going boat is to set sail once again - 3,500 years after it last crossed the English Channel.

Experts working on the Boat 1550 BC project plan to construct a half-size copy of the Bronze Age boat which had lain buried deep under the coastal town of Dover for 3,500 years until it was uncovered in 1992 during the construction of an underpass. The oak-built vessel - pictured on display in Dover Museum - would have sailed across the English Channel at a time when Stonehenge was still in use and before Tutankhamun became ruler of Egypt.

Boat-builders working on the ambitious project will use ancient techniques and Bronze Age tools. They hope to complete the replica in two-and-a-half years' time.

When finished it will form part of a touring exhibition, sailing to France and Belgium before heading back to the UK to mark the 20th anniversary of the original boat's discovery. Peter Clark, deputy director of the Canterbury Archaeological Trust, told reporters he hoped the project would shed new light on how our ancestors were able to build seaworthy vessels.

"I have been working towards this moment for more than 10 years; it's very exciting," he said.

"We can only speculate about how often people crossed the channel and how close were the ties, but one thing is certain - this project will bring the modern communities in northern France, Belgium and England just that little bit closer together."

Daytime tel.

The judges' decision is final. Usual Herts & Essex Newspapers terms and conditions apply. The closing date for entries is Wednesday, March 21

FOLLOWING its triumphant and critically acclaimed run at the Old Vic, Michael Frayn's multi award-winning backstage comedy Noises Off transfers to the Novello Theatre from March 24. Described by the critics as "achingly, foot-stompingly, seal-honkingly hysterical," this hilarious comedy hurtles along at breakneck speed as it follows the backstage antics of a touring theatre company stumbling their way through rehearsals to a shambolic first night and a final disastrous performance.

This week the Star is giving you the chance to win one of five pairs of top-priced tickets to the show. To enter, simply answer the question in the competition coupon and return it to: Star Noises Off competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF by Wednesday, March 21.

You can also enter via our competition link at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'Star Noises Off' in the subject line or your entry will be discounted.

Noises Off is at the Novello Theatre, Aldwych, London, WC2B 4LD. For ticket details call the box office on 0844 871 7628 or visit www.noisesoffwestend.com.

Terms & Conditions

Tickets are valid for Monday-Thursday performances until May 31, 2012. Tickets are subject to availability. There is no cash alternative to the prizes, they are non-refundable, non-transferable and not for resale. Travel to and from the theatre is the responsibility of the prizewinners

WIN

Tickets to see TV's Benidorm on stage

TWO stars from award-winning ITV comedy drama Benidorm will be performing live at Rhodes in Bishop's Stortford on Friday, March 30 – and you can win tickets to see them.

The atmosphere of the Neptune Bar will be recreated by Crissy Rock, pictured above, and Shaun Foster Conley in an evening of adult comedy and music that will have you yearning for those hot summer nights in sunny Spain.

The Star has five pairs of tickets up for grabs to see the show. For the chance to win, just tell us the name of the character that Crissy played in Benidorm.

Send your answer, along with your name, postal and email addresses and daytime telephone number to Star Benidorm Live Competition, PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF by Wednesday, March 21. You can also enter via our competition link at www.harlowstar.co.uk. Be sure to enter 'Star Benidorm Live' in the subject line or your entry will be discounted.

If you're not lucky to win tickets you can buy them from the Rhodes box office on (01279) 651746. They're priced £17 (concessions £15). The show starts at 8pm.

Hank swaps his stethoscope for a stetson

SADDLE up for a thrilling ride through the dark side of country and western as lapsed cowboy Hank Wangford gallops into The Square tomorrow (Friday) night.

The Stetson-wearing singer-songwriter – AKA London-born Sam Hutt – has been dispensing his own special brand of alt-country for over 30 years and stops off in Harlow as part of his latest No

Hall 2 Small tour of the UK with long-time saddlepal Brad Breath.

A qualified doctor whose work in a drug-addiction centre in the 1960s brought him into contact with a colourful array of rock 'n' roll casualties, Hank became fascinated with 'roots music' after befriending hellraising ex-Byrd and progressive country pioneer Gram Parsons.

By the mid-70s he was a physician on a mission to inject new life into the stuffy British country music scene, and before long he was fronting the first incarnation of The Hank Wangford Band and playing regularly on the pub circuit.

Fast forward 30-odd years and Hank, who is still a practicing doctor, has now released his seventh album proper (Whistling In The Dark), played every corner of the British Isles and somehow even found time to set up the world's first Nude Mountaineering Club. Catch him live on stage at The Square tomorrow (Friday) from 8pm. Tickets priced at £10 are available from the venue's box office on (01279) 305000 or via www.seetickets.com.

Parade march on with release of debut album

By JAMES BURTON

IN an era where online hype and reality TV can create megastars overnight, there's enormous pressure for budding young artists to reach out and grab the limelight with both hands.

But despite generating significant buzz when they were signed up by Parlophone in 2010, Harlow five-piece Morning Parade have quietly and very deliberately shunned the instant fame option.

Instead, the electro-rockers who've played several times at The Square have built up a loyal fanbase the hard way – by getting out there and gigging like crazy.

They now have scores of shows across Europe under their belt, including a sold-out homecoming date at London's Scala last autumn, and have even opened concerts for world-conquering labelmates Coldplay.

And following their 12-month touring frenzy, which also saw them support the likes of The Kooks, Biffy Clyro and 30 Seconds To Mars, the boys have finally released their self-titled full-length debut.

The album, which came out last week, follows chart-bothering singles Under The Stars, which was used in the soundtrack to hit US television drama The Vampire Diaries, and follow-up A&E.

True to form, it's packed with the kind of stadium-sized, emotionally wrought tunes that have become their trademark. From sweeping, synth-drenched opening number Born Alone to uptempo closer Blue Winter, everything about the record screams 'big'.

Their approach won't win everyone over, particularly those who prefer their music a tad more restrained, but there's no doubting Morning Parade's sixth sense for a catchy melody and a rousing, heart-stirring chorus.

And while the album is flawlessly polished almost to a fault, frontman Steve Sparrow's gut-wrenching lyrics and vocals bring plenty of human warmth to what could otherwise be a rather sterile and soulless affair.

With dance and rock influences present in equal measure – not entirely unlike a latter-day New Order, albeit a million times less ramshackle when playing live – they've got a lot going for them and have potential to charm a very wide audience.

Tipping a band to be the 'next big thing' is always risky, but there's every chance Morning Parade could be absolutely massive in 2012. And they deserve it.

The band supported the release with a one-off UK gig at London's Heaven nightclub before setting off on a world tour taking in New York, Toronto and other dates across the US and Europe.

>>what's on at the square

>>tonight Chew over some blistering bubblegum punk-pop tonight as Incoming serves up a quadruple-bill of top new talent. Headlined by Peterborough mob White Clouds & Gunfire, the gig will also feature sets from Nothing, The Sharps and Frazier Lowrie. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £4 (free for members).

>>saturday Thrashcore legends FOC rear their ugly heads tonight as the post-punk noiseniks rock The Square one last time with help from hardcore punks Mainline and reformed mid-90s underground metal heroes Dark Entity. Doors open at 8pm and admission is cost £7 (£6 members).

>>wednesday Show your support for plucky Harlow College's first year music students as they battle their nerves to take their first steps on the rocky road to success with a showcase gig tonight. Newly-formed bands Nothing Without Josh, Puppeteers, J-Birds and Dave all feature on the bill, with the show forming part of the students' coursework. Doors open at 8pm and admission costs £5.

Matt's born again in feelgood zoo movie

WE BOUGHT A ZOO certificate PG, 2h03m

THIS shamelessly sentimental tale of a father's struggle to revitalise an ailing animal sanctuary in the aftermath of his wife's death is based on the true story of British newspaper columnist Benjamin Mee, who took charge of Dartmoor Zoological Park in 2007.

Screenwriters Cameron Crowe and Aline Brosh McKenna transplant the action from picturesque south Devon to the fictitious Rosemoor Wildlife Park in California, where mourning, guilt and father-son bonding play out against the backdrop of an inspection of the zoo's facilities that will either shut down the attraction or guarantee its survival.

Benjamin Mee (Matt Damon) is trying to be strong for his teenage son Dylan (Colin Ford) and precocious young daughter Rosie (Maggie Elizabeth Jones) following the death of his wife, Katharine (Stephanie Szostak). He moves his family into a ramshackle house that comes with a fully functioning zoo, complete with animals and ballys headkeeper Kelly Foster (Scarlett Johansson).

Benjamin sinks all of his money into the zoo, hoping to restore the facility to its former glory in time for an inspection by the notoriously prickly Walter Ferris (John Michael Higgins).

Despite attempts by his accountant brother Duncan (Thomas Haden Church) to dissuade him, Benjamin refuses to listen and persuades alcohol-swilling handyman MacCready (Angus Macfadyen), animal handler Robin (Patrick Fugit) and Kelly's teenage cousin Lily (Elle Fanning) to buy into his impossible dream.

We Bought A Zoo is Crowe at his most mawkish and clichéd. Children stare mournfully into the camera, parents salve wounds with trite platitudes, a father stumbles upon a cash windfall in the nick of time and an ageing tiger prepares to make a final journey to the great jungle in the sky.

The film's trump card is Damon, who delivers a moving and honest performance as the family man haunted by memories of the past.

He shares pleasing screen chemistry with youngsters Ford and Jones while Church provides the comic relief.

While it might ultimately falter as a compelling drama, We Bought A Zoo may well boost visitor numbers to Dartmoor Zoological Park, which is still on a financial knife-edge. And that would be a genuine Hollywood fairytale.

JOHN CARTER 3D & 2D A young Edgar Rice Burroughs (Daryl Sabara) is summoned to the home of his beloved uncle and former Confederate soldier John Carter (Taylor Kitsch), who has perished in mysterious circumstances. Leafing through Carter's cherished journal, Burroughs learns that his uncle sought sanctuary from Apaches in a cave and was magically transported to Mars where he was captured by the Tharks, a savage race of 15ft-tall green warriors with tusks protruding from their mouths. Meanwhile, Matai Shang (Mark Strong), the leader of the Holy Therns, took charge of the planet's destiny by orchestrating the marriage of Prince Sab Than (Dominic West) of Zodanga and Princess Dejah Thoris (Lynn Collins) of the besieged city of Helium. The princess raged against the arranged nuptials, despite the pleadings of her father (Ciaran Hinds), and when Dejah captured a glimpse of Carter's rippling chest, her rebellion intensified.

THE WOMAN IN BLACK London solicitor Arthur Kipps (Daniel Radcliffe) is haunted by the death of his wife Stella (Sophie Stuckey) during childbirth. He seeks refuge in his love for their three-year-old son, Joseph (Misha Handley) but his work suffers as a consequence. As a result, Arthur is dispatched to the remote village of Crythin Gifford where he must prove himself by attending to the papers of Alice Drablow, the recently deceased owner of Eel Marsh House. The locals try to ward him off but Arthur persists and before long he glimpses a mysterious woman (Liz White) who is blamed for the deaths of children in the village.

THE DEVIL INSIDE certificate 15, 1h23m

WILLIAM Brent Bell directs this supernatural horror about a young woman searching for the truth about her murderous mother.

Shot in the 'found footage' format of films like The Blair Witch Project and Paranormal Activity, it is set in 1989 and starts with Maria Rossi (Suzan Crowley) telephoning emergency services to confess to killing three people during an exorcism.

She is spirited away to Rome where she languishes in a psychiatric hospital, far from the prying eyes of the media.

Twenty years later, her daughter Isabella (Fernanda Andrade) makes a documentary about exorcisms to better understand the dark forces that supposedly took hold of her mother.

The young film-maker travels to Rome where she witnesses priests Ben (Simon Quarterman) and David (Evan Helmuth) casting out evil from one unfortunate soul.

A terrifying visit to Maria's cell confirms Isabella's worst fears and she entreats Ben and David to perform an exorcism and finally free her mother from unspeakable torment.

CONTRABAND certificate 15, 1h49m

CHRIS Farraday (Mark Wahlberg) and best friend Sebastian Abney (Ben Foster) were "the Lennon and McCartney of smuggling" but both men have gone straight.

Chris now works on the right side of the law installing security alarms to provide a steady income for his wife Kate (Kate Beckinsale) and children. But trouble looms large when Kate's baby brother Andy (Caleb Landry Jones) runs drugs for gun-toting mad man Tim Briggs (Giovanni Ribisi) and dumps the narcotics when US customs unexpectedly storms the cargo ship.

Chris reluctantly agrees to smuggle millions of dollars of fake bills from Panama to pay off Andy's debt with the help of old pals Danny Raymer (Lukas Haas) and Igor (Olafur Darri Olafsson) aboard a ship commandeered by Captain Camp (JK Simmons). Once the boat docks, Chris has a small window of opportunity to collect the bills. However, he must locate maniacal crime lord Gonzalo (Diego Luna), whose heavily guarded warehouse is in the heart of the grid-locked city.

MORTON Schmidt (Jonah Hill) and Greg Jenko (Channing Tatum) both enrol at police academy and work together to ensure they complete the physical and academic elements of the final exam.

Life as cops turns out to be quite dull and their first bust ends in embarrassment, so they are sent in disgrace to Captain Dickson (Ice Cube) who orders the pair to pose as sibling students at the local school where drugs are rife.

Morton becomes a popular member of the student body thanks to his brains and sensitivity while lumbering hunk Greg is viewed as an idiot by everyone except his teacher Ms Griggs (Ellie Kemper), who would love to give him some one-on-one tuition.

While Morton engages in a tender romance with drama student Molly (Brie Larson), the cops identify fellow student Eric Molson (Dave Franco) as the dealer and work to bring down the drugs ring.

Additional Swimming pool, conservatory, en suite to master bedroom, spectacular views

Guide price £599,995

Agent Howick & Brooker, Gothic House, High Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 418888

THIS week's cover property in Wyldwood Close, Old Harlow, is a superb family home with a great atmosphere.

It has plenty of spacious accommodation as well as a large garden with uninterrupted views and a stylish swimming pool. The superb outdoor space is ideal for al fresco entertaining.

The property has been well cared for and it shows.

From the entrance hall there are doors leading off to the study, sitting room, cloakroom, lounge, dining room, conservatory, kitchen and utility room.

The lounge measures a generous 19'9 x 11'10 and is a bright and airy room. The use of wooden flooring, which runs through much of the ground floor, creates a contemporary but homely atmosphere.

Off the dining room there is a large conservatory overlooking the garden, making the most of the spectacular views. Double doors open onto a neat patio area.

Upstairs, the main bedroom has a dressing area which leads into an en-suite bathroom. There are a further three bedrooms and the family bathroom which features a blue suite and corner bath.

To the front of the house there is plenty of parking space and a double garage.

Howick & Brooker, the agents handling the sale of this property, state that completion cannot take place before the first week in June. For more information, contact them on (01279) 418888.

HARLOW

Might Sell, Might Not

The current market is as near a normal market as experienced estate agents have known for years in terms of the balance between properties available for sale and registered buyers.

However, unlike most normal markets, some sellers are not as committed to selling as they might be, and are prepared to remain on the market until what they regard as an acceptable offer comes along.

Likewise, some buyers, whilst generally remaining committed to a purchase, do not exhibit a great deal of urgency, and believe that they are entitled to submit a relatively low offer in the current market.

There are two issues here and we would advise caution to buyer and seller alike. Firstly, if, as a seller, your house fails to sell for whatever reason, it is probably priced too ambitiously for the current conditions. If you allow it to remain on the market at that price, it may well go stale on the market, resulting in an inevitable fall in price greater than a minor repositioning effected now.

From a buyer's perspective, we suggest you focus on securing the right home for your needs, within your budget, more than on finding the greatest bargain. A percentage off the asking price is irrelevant if the asking price is too much to begin with, but a well-priced property is always in demand. Unless you act decisively, you could miss out. The rule of thumb is this; if you see a property that you can afford, which offers you the accommodation you need in an area you like, and you could be happy there, then snap it up, as the chances are that most of the other buyers in your price range will also want that property. Good value is good value - in any market.

BMW hybrid offers best of both

By Matt Joy

SPARE a thought for those who aren't and probably never will be a fan of diesel. It's hardly the most delightful of substances to handle, and service stations without disposable gloves on hand ought to be closed down.

Trouble is, diesel engines have seen huge advances over the past decade and with manufacturers pouring millions into developing cleaner, faster and more refined powerplants they make an awful lot of sense.

BMW has been at the forefront of this trend, too. Only a few weeks ago it announced a fiendishly-clever triple-turbo high performance diesel but it has an arguably unequalled reputation for superb petrol engines and now it's trying to combine this know-how with some electric boost. The Active Hybrid 5 is the firm's first hybrid offering to reach the UK and just looking at the vital statistics it has an awful lot to offer. Behind the familiar 5-Series nose there is the 3.0-litre twin-turbocharged 302bhp petrol unit already used elsewhere in the BMW range and in particular the 535i – the car to which BMW says the Hybrid 5 is an alternative.

In the Hybrid 5, however, there is 52bhp electric motor added to the mix and with both motors pulling at the same time there is 335bhp and 332lb.ft of torque, all channelled to

FACT file

BMW Active Hybrid 5

£46,860

ENGINE 3.0-litre petrol with electric motor producing 335bhp
TRANSMISSION Eight-speed automatic driving the rear wheels
PERFORMANCE Maximum speed 155mph, 0-62mph in 5.9s
ECONOMY 44.1mpg combined
CO² RATING 149g/km

the rear wheels only through an eight-speed automatic gearbox. No question then that it is still a sporting saloon; 0-62mph takes only 5.9 seconds and it is fast enough that the 155mph electronic limiter is required.

Yet the eco numbers are remarkably good, too. The combined fuel consumption of 44.1mpg is just a whisker behind a manual 535 diesel, as is the 149g/km CO² emissions figure.

Yet from the driver's seat there is almost nothing to tell you you're in a petrol hybrid. The comprehensive standard specification includes the highest grade satellite navigation, which in a clever combination of technology adjusts the drivetrain to suit forthcoming road conditions for maximum efficiency. There's four-zone climate and high-gloss wood trim, too. So far, so typically excellent 5-Series.

But when you fire it up there's complete silence and if you tread gently on the accelerator it pulls away entirely under battery power. From start, the Hybrid 5 can manage 2.4 miles before it has to switch onto petrol power but with the charge flowing in and out you find yourself switching into pure electric mode far more often than the mileage would suggest.

It also runs up to 37mph in electric mode but better still is the way in which the engine shuts off completely on the overrun.

As with many recent BMWs the Hybrid 5 has driver-selectable modes including Sport, Comfort and most crucially EcoPro. In this mode everything is geared towards efficiency, including the air conditioning, throttle response and gearshift selection.

It also increases the speed at which the engine falls dormant; even at 100mph, back off the accelerator completely and the Hybrid 5 will shut down and feed energy back into the battery.

It achieves the key goal for a hybrid in that it adds something to the driving experience but without asking anything more from the driver. Better yet, it doesn't harm its credentials as a sporting saloon. Even in EcoPro or Comfort modes the Hybrid 5 gets along smartly if you use a little bit of acceleration, and the eight-speed automatic breezes between shifts.

Turn up the wick at little and it still feels just as sharp. Hit the button again and in Sport or Sport+ mode the Hybrid 5 feels just as sharp and responsive as any other 5-Series.

BMW's philosophy of good weight distribution has been maintained despite the addition of weighty batteries in the boot area. Admittedly the test car was on regular rubber rather than the standard low rolling resistance tyres, but the inherent 'rightness' of the basic set up is impossible to miss.

And when you decide to forgo the economy driving the Hybrid 5 has a mighty turn of speed. You can shift manually with the wheel-mounted paddles and forget the car you're driving is remotely green. And this being a petrol it revs with genuine keenness, responds sharply to throttle inputs and with all that power and torque, blast along with real vigour.

The real gem, though, is that the Hybrid 5 makes a financial case for itself. At a shade over £46,000 it gets pretty close to its in-house rivals, but what the Hybrid 5 does that nothing else can is match petrol power with performance, economy and low emissions all together.

That you can get all this in a car which is excellent to start with is the best news of all.

This has everything: plenty of room for your record boxes, computers, luggage, AA and sound equipment and much more. Plus it has the drive and comfort factor of high and saloon. It's the best of both worlds and when you are on the road as much as I am your vehicle has to tick all the boxes and this does!"

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

TANY'S DELL PRIMARY SCHOOL & NURSERY Harlow

Exciting times are ahead!

We're expanding to a two-form entry school, creating an extra class of up to 30 pupils each year.

We offer:

- ✓ an inclusive and welcoming ethos
- ✓ a dedicated, friendly staff team and whole school community
- ✓ enthusiastic, polite children
- ✓ a commitment to professional development and lifelong learning

Vacancies for September 2012:

INCLUSION MANAGER
Main/Upper Pay Scale + SN2 Allowance

We are seeking to appoint an inspirational SENCO who will be integral to raising achievement and supporting good practice throughout the school and specialist provision for Hearing Impaired pupils.

The successful candidate will:

- ✓ Demonstrate excellent communication skills to work in partnership with school staff, parents and outside agencies
- ✓ Show a broad understanding of inclusive policy, practice and barriers to learning
- ✓ Demonstrate a working knowledge of the statutory requirements relevant to SEN provision
- ✓ Have a passion for children's learning and a good understanding of classroom practice, supporting staff to implement effective teaching and learning strategies, especially including supportive interventions
- ✓ Work at a strategic level to support school improvement as a member of the Senior Leadership Team
- ✓ Have excellent organisational skills and be a team player in this inclusive school
- ✓ BSL Level 1 desirable but not essential

FS/KS1 CLASS TEACHER
Main scale (Experienced Staff and NQTs welcome)

We are seeking to appoint an enthusiastic classroom practitioner, who is passionate about high quality teaching and helping children to reach their full potential through an enriched curriculum.

The successful candidate will:

- ✓ Have a proven record of high expectations of teaching and learning
- ✓ Be passionate about delivering a creative curriculum
- ✓ Have the ability to work positively within a friendly team
- ✓ Be committed to raising pupil achievement

CLASS BASED LEARNING SUPPORT ASSISTANT
30 hrs per week - Term time only
LGPS Band2M - actual starting salary £10,246 per annum

We are looking for an enthusiastic and motivated person to join our team of LSAs. Experience, or a particular interest, in working with children with a hearing impairment or other special needs would be beneficial, but not essential.

The successful candidate will:

- ✓ Have excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- ✓ Be committed to helping children achieve their full potential
- ✓ Promote positive behaviour strategies
- ✓ Have the ability to work positively within a friendly team
- ✓ BSL Level 1 desirable but not essential

ADMIN ASSISTANT
32.5 hrs per week - Term time + 2 weeks
LGPS Band 3 - actual starting salary £13,296 per annum

We are looking for a hard working, self motivated and cheerful person to provide effective and efficient clerical support. You will be responsible for pupil admissions and attendance, income to the delegated budget and school fund accounts, and provide relief cover for the Receptionist/Welfare Assistant during lunch times and absences.

The successful candidate will:

- ✓ Have excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- ✓ Demonstrate a high level of computer, numeracy and literacy skills
- ✓ Have good organisational skills and the ability to prioritise work
- ✓ Show a flexible and team orientated approach
- ✓ Have the ability to establish a respectful and trusting relationship with children and their families

If you have what we're looking for and you want to join a supportive and caring school in a great location, please phone to request an application pack from: Mrs Beverly Ingram (School Business Manager) 01279 866230 ext 234

Closing date for applications: Friday 20 April 2012
Interviews to be held: Week beginning Monday 14 May 2012

Visits to the school are welcome. Further information and job descriptions can be viewed on our website

HARLOW DISTRICT COUNCIL
TENDER FOR MOT AND COMPLIANCE TESTING OF HACKNEY CARRIAGES AND PRIVATE HIRE VEHICLES

In accordance with the provisions of the Local Government (Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 1976 Harlow Council, being the Licensing Authority, is seeking expressions of interest from suitably qualified and experienced garages, situated within the district of Harlow, who wish to be invited to tender for the MOT and Compliance testing of Hackney Carriages and Private Hire Vehicles. It is anticipated that the service will involve an annual minimum of:

- 1) 75 MOT/Compliance Tests for Hackney Carriages
- 2) 210 MOT/Compliance Tests for Private Hire Vehicles

The successful tenderer will be required to satisfy the Council of its technical ability, financial and economic standing and ability to deliver a service which will meet the requirements of the Council. The contract shall have a duration of twelve months commencing on 25 April 2012. The Council may, at its sole discretion, extend the contract on annual basis for an aggregate period not exceeding thirty-six months.

Organisations interested in receiving a set of tender documents should e-mail tina.mcdermott@harlow.gov.uk. The final date for making such requests is 3 April 2012. The deadline for the receipt of tenders by the Council is noon on 10 April 2012.

HARLOW DISTRICT COUNCIL COUNCIL TAX

In compliance with Section 30 of the Local Government Finance Act 1992, on the 23rd February 2012 Harlow Council set a Council Tax for charging properties within the district as follows:

Band A	1027.62
Band B	1198.89
Band C	1370.16
Band D	1541.43
Band E	1883.97
Band F	2226.51

To advertise your articles for sale for the price of just a phone call or text, just follow these two simple steps...

1 Before calling us, write down all that you want your advertisement to say. There is a minimum of 12 words per advert, but you can have as many classified adverts as you need. Remember, strictly one item per phone call and the item must be priced at £250 or less. Any items received that do not carry a price will not be published.

2 Now call us on 0905 624 2025
LINES OPEN 24 HOURS PER DAY SEVEN DAYS PER WEEK.
This service lasts approximately two minutes, plus the length of your message. Calls charged at £1.02 per minute plus network extras; calls from mobile will cost considerably more. Service provided J-Media (UK) Ltd.

or text 87070

Start your text with HEN then your advert to a maximum of 20 words. You do not need to add your phone number unless it is different to the mobile used to text the advert.

Example: HEN (space) G. Plan two piece suite, two seater sofa and armchair, super condition £99.
Charged at £1.50 per text plus normal network charges.
Only one item per text.

If you have any queries relating to advertisements placed via this service please call our helpline...

Win tickets to see Sarries at Wembley

SARACENS face Harlequins at Wembley Stadium on Saturday March 31 for what will be a battle between the two teams at the top of the Aviva Premiership – and we have a pair of tickets to win for the big game.

Premiership champions Saracens return to the iconic stadium for their eighth match and this promises to be bigger and better than ever with already more than 60,000 tickets sold for this game.

With England internationals such as Owen Farrell, Charlie Hodgson, Brad Barritt and David Strettle in the Saracens line-up and England captain Chris Robshaw leading Harlequins, it promises to be a mouthwatering clash. Off the field the entertainment will be just as good as the pre-match show. It includes performances from UK chart-toppers McFly and the highly acclaimed Rock Choir.

At half-time, a lucky fan inside the ground will have the chance to win £250,000 just by kicking a rugby ball. To win a pair of tickets to the game, just answer the question and fill in and send off the coupon on the right. Tickets for the game are on sale now. Visit www.saracens.atwembley.com or call 0844 847 2482.

Saracens at Wembley

To be in with a chance of winning, complete and submit this coupon to: Saracens at Wembley Competition, Star PO Box 268, Cambridge CB24 6HF. Or you can enter via www.harlowstar.co.uk

St Luke's triumphs in school challenge

ST Luke's Primary School team were celebrating after winning the Harlow Sports Hall Athletic 2012 title.

The event at Passmores Academy's plush new sports hall saw the team from the Pyenest Road school win with 150 points.

They were four points ahead of last year's champions, second-placed Latton Green (146).

Church Langley (120) and Pear Tree Mead (78) were third and fourth respectively in the four-school event.

The event was made up of a series of track and field events.

The leaping skills of children were tested as they competed in the standing jump, long jump, triple jump and vertical jump disciplines.

The javelin throw was among the field events.

There was also an obstacle relay race and relay races.

"It was supported by the Passmores Academy and in >>>cross country

addition to helping out with all aspects of the event, also provided excellent young leaders who were a massive help and were a credit to their school," said Harlow School Sports Partnership Manager George Gardiner.

"It was great to see everyone involved competing with such positive attitudes and well done to St Luke's for coming out on top in a very close competition.

"Everyone who took part deserves a massive thank you for making it a success, but in particular I would like to thank Passmores Academy who have been strong partners in delivering this event."

SUCCESS: St Luke's School students Elliot Millard and Chloe Kaminski with the trophy (s)

Rams slip out of promotion spots

Upminster 18, Harlow 15

RFU London & SE, div three north east

THE promotion ambitions of the Rams were hit after they slipped to a narrow defeat at Upminster.

Harlow are now in third spot and locked on 61 points with second-placed Stowmarket.

Stowmarket went second after they won 45-17 at Newmarket and the Suffolk side also have the momentum with them to secure the second promotion spot.

Harlow fly-half Michael Dobson crucially missed a 10th-minute penalty in front of the posts.

Upminster went ahead through a 28th-minute penalty and led 3-0 at half-time.

The hosts stretched their lead to 10-0 within the first minute of the second half when they exploited poor Harlow defence to score a try that was converted.

A 54th-minute drop goal from Harlow full-back Aled Hill reduced Upminster's lead before the hosts bounced back with a 58th-minute unconverted try to go 15-3 up.

Harlow fought back with tries from Kain Claridge and skipper Shaun Roberts on 60 and 64 minutes respectively.

Dobson kicked the first conversion but missed the second to leave the sides level at 15-15.

However, it was Upminster who clinched the win with a 69th-minute penalty.

HARLOW: Hills, Kotze (Mackie), Vanbeck, Heapy, Drake (Woodington 70), Dobson, Powell, Roze (Stonehouse 52), Wilkins, Cunningham, Twiner, Eynon, Roberts (c), M. Bowering, Claridge.

● BRAVE Harlow Ladies suffered an 18-5 loss at a strong Romford side in the RFUW National Challenge Cup quarter-final.

Romford led by one unconverted try at half-time after some awesome determination in the Rams defence. Elizabeth Gordon's offload allowed Davina McLellan to run down the wing and score.

However, two tries and a penalty sealed the win for Romford.

Error costs Canaan as he takes silver

AN official's error cost Canaan Solomon dearly at the United Kingdom Inter Counties Cross Country event at Coton Park in Birmingham.

The 13 year-old Mark Hall student was leading alongside Hampshire runner Jack Boswell with 300m of the U-13 3km race to go.

An official then lifted a tape causing the pair to go slightly off course.

Then Markheim Lonsdale from the North East stole a 10m advantage before Canaan caught Lonsdale.

However, Canaan stumbled at the line, enabling Lonsdale to squeeze through for the title.

Both Canaan and Lonsdale shared the new course record time of 10 mins, 19 secs.

Meanwhile, Amelia Barrett (15), a Burnt Mill School pupil, produced another excellent performance for 18th in the U-15 girls 4km race in 16:27 and 3rd scorer for Essex, who won the U-15 girls team title.

Burnt Mill pupil Perry Rowan (15) was 42nd in the U-15 boys 4.5km race in 15:40 and was third scorer for Essex.

Stewards School pupil Rosie Poole, (12), was 4th scorer for Essex in the U-13 girls 3km race in 12:01 as they took silver medals.

Jodi Ratcliff (13), a Mark Hall pupil, was 144th in 12: 44 secs and 7th scorer for Essex.

● MOLLY Gardner ran a clever race to claim a bronze medal in the girls U-12 2km race at the ISA (Independent Schools Association) National Cross Country Championships.

The 11-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member was fifth with 300m remaining before a tremendous sprint enabled her to snatch third spot on the line from the Midland regional champion Georgina Mitchell.

Zoe Benton, who attends St Nicholas School in Old Harlow, was 18th in the U-14 2.8km girls race.

In the U-16 girls 2.8km race, Katie Templeton-Knight (St Nicholas School) came 24th.

Luton clip Hawks

HARLOW Hawks suffered a 78-59 loss at Herts Basketball League division one title contenders Luton Flilers last Friday.

Nick Moss scored six points in the first quarter, but Luton took control and were 16-10 ahead at the end of this period.

Shab Niaz, Atkins and Jackson all sank points in the second quarter and Harlow were only 31-28 behind.

Luton began to find gaps in the tiring Hawks defence in the third quarter.

Some great outside shooting from Niaz kept the Hawks alive but Luton increased their lead at the end of the third and were 60-44 up heading into the last quarter.

The luck then deserted Hawks but Niaz continued to knock down the three-pointers that came his way.

However, the near 20-point gap was too big to close.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (21pts), N. Moss (10pts), C. Jackson (8pts), A. Ball (8pts), J. Atkins (6pts), A. Oyerinde (3pts), L. Jones (2pts), R. Norkeiliunas (1pt).

Alemite into final

ALEMITE Athletic were celebrating after reaching the final of the Essex Junior Cup.

The Harlow-based side beat Essex Olympian League side Manford Way 3-2.

John Withers, Paul Locksmith and Daniel Smith scored for the hosts.

Alemite play in the Hertford & District League.

But there will be no final Essex Junior Cup final appearance for North Weald who lost 4-2 at home to St Clere's in the last four.

Silverstone rocks

GEORGINA Spenceley ran extremely well in her debut half marathon race, clocking a superb time of one hour, 49 minutes and 34 seconds.

The Harlow Running Club member was competing at the Adidas Silverstone half marathon and finished 1,385th from 6,390 competitors.

Sunday's event was held at the famous motor racing circuit in Northamptonshire.

Georgina was followed home by other half marathon debutants, Paul Schroder (3,507th, 2:08.43), and Paulene Galoppi (4,649th in 2:22.28).

Wendy Spring (3,520th, 2:08.51) and Susan Dewen (3,929th, 2:13.16) also competed.

Meanwhile, Dave Page set a personal best time of 1:51.36 at the Colchester half marathon, where he was 468th from 1060 finishers.

He was closely followed by his wife Janice who clocked 1:51.40 for 472nd spot.

It's a Bad day for depleted Ladies

A HARLOW side who were a player short were unable to surmount the numerical deficiency as they slipped to a narrow defeat at Maldon & Little Baddow.

The visitors had a number of first team regulars unavailable so Julie Castle, Hayley Leach and Sarah Donaghey were promoted to the premier team.

Saturday's match started 15 minutes late as Harlow went to the wrong pitch and the visitors had a bad start conceding two scrappy goals on 8 and 11 minutes.

Harlow regained their composure and halved the deficit on 23 minutes through a reverse-stick flick from Emma Tweddle.

Maldon restored their two-goal lead when their forward rifled in on 33 minutes to give them a 3-1 half-time lead.

The hosts scored a fourth goal on 43 minutes, but the visitors did not give up.

They scored twice more on 57 and 67 minutes, but could not find a fourth equalising goal.

Bethan Spencer tapped home from a penalty corner before Carolyn Welsford made an interception and broke into the 'D' and shot beyond the reach of the home keeper.

Harlow are third. HARLOW: Welsford, Tweddle, Ferdinando, Douglas, Castle, Donaghey, Leach, Spencer, Byers, Rowley.

TOM BRUNO

Boss fumes as duo quit

>>Cont'd from back Football Club."

Bruno's departure has also puzzled Chapman. The Harlow manager said: "He's a great lad and is a good footballer. He wanted to play football on a regular basis and I can understand that."

"He has got the wrong mentality. I cannot understand why someone would want to leave a football club on the verge of a promotion."

He added: "It's whether you want to achieve things or want to play with your mates at Waltham Abbey."

Chapman said that with the likes of Ryan Maxwell, Getro Kilapi and Leon Lalite he has no immediate need to replace Bruno.

Chapman could bring in another forward. "I need to talk to Christian Wheeler and Tom Cunningham but Ben Jones has come in and done well," he said.

Chapman is also concerned about getting his side's play-off bid back on track.

The Hawks have only got eight points from the last seven games which has left them in 7th spot and four points off the play-offs. He wants two wins from his side's two matches against Romford (away) this Saturday and Redbridge (at home next Tuesday).

"The run has come at a bad time. It's getting very tight and we need to get back on track and get six points. We have to get that mentality," he said.

"It will be tough at Romford and we must not allow ourselves to be bullied by Redbridge like we were in the first game."

Skipper Danny Brown is likely to be ruled out for another two weeks with his rib injury.

Forward Scott Smith is still registered with Harlow but has had a trial with nPower League Two club Dagenham & Redbridge.

Three goals in last 10 minutes leave Hawks deflated

Needham Market 3, Harlow Tn 1

Ryman League, division one north

A TERRIBLE end saw Harlow Town's victory hopes torn to shreds at the hands of fellow play-off hopefuls Needham Market.

The Hawks were leading 1-0 in Saturday's clash before they conceded three goals in the last 10 minutes.

Substitute Deakin Napier had a hand in all three, scoring two of them.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman lamented: "We should have made it safe by the time they scored. When they equalised we seemed to fall apart."

"We conceded a late goal at Grays [a 1-1 draw] and it [conceding late goals] is something we have to address."

He added: "I felt as bad as when we were beaten in the play-offs last year."

Harlow had the best of the opening half hour, creating a number of chances.

They almost scored on 15 minutes when Leon Lalite had a header cleared off the line.

Harlow went ahead on 35 minutes. An error from Needham defender Pip Boyland was pounced on by Dave Cowley who fired home from the edge of the box for his fourth goal in five games.

Harlow wasted two good chances early in the second period.

Michael Deane fired over when well-placed and Luke Marshall had a shot blocked by home keeper Liam Jones.

Marshall tweeted: "That was one of the best performances we have put in for a while. We should have put the game out of sight with a few chances."

Lee McGlone came close on the hour mark for the hosts.

On 75 minutes, Chapman took off winger Marshall to shore up the defence, with substitute Donny Barnard coming on at right-back.

Chapman explained: "Luke was struggling with his fitness and he needed to come off."

A minute later, a Napier effort struck a post.

On 80 minutes, a misunderstanding between Barnard and Hawks keeper Bertrand Bossu resulted in Napier lobbing the French shot-stopper to make it 1-1.

Chapman said: "Donny should have dealt with it and cleared it."

On 85 minutes, a home corner was cleared and Napier's cross was headed home by fellow substitute Duane Wright.

Needham scored a third goal when Wright's shot was parried and Napier fired in.

Chapman added: "We could have prevented all three goals. When it was 1-1 we felt we were going to get a point at least."

Turkish delight for Great Brit Osagie

ANDREW Osagie showed he has the intelligence and nous to secure a medal at the London Olympics after securing a magnificent bronze in the 800m at the World Indoor Championships.

It was a brilliant performance from the Harlow Athletic Club member who can now set his sights on the European Championships before the big extravaganza in the capital in August.

Osagie (24), of Northbrooks in Harlow, laid off the early pace.

He moved to fifth at halfway and into fourth at the bell, before biding his time until the last 50m to move into the medals in the final few strides, crossing the line third in 1 minute 48.92 seconds.

In an incredible race, Osagie was a fraction of a second behind the winner, Ethiopian Mohammed Aman (1:48.36).

Jakub Holusa, from the Czech Republic, took the silver medal in 1:48.62.

Osagie said: "I'm so happy with that, to get a medal. I knew going into the final I maybe could sneak a medal. You never know what's going to happen.

"I think we ran a 28 second first 200m there and then as soon as someone made a move, everyone panicked. I really didn't want to. I wanted to keep my head just like I did in the semi-final.

"I knew that last lap I was going to be quicker than most as long as I was there in contention. I'm so happy to get that."

He finished ahead of highly-rated Polish athlete Adam Kszczot (1:49.16) and USA star Michael Rutt (1:51.47).

He added: "The support we've received has been immense so far, especially during the Aviva Series. It helps so much when I'm competing to know that we have passionate fans backing our team."

GB head coach Charles van Commenee said: "It's the best team performance of all-time so we've every reason to travel home happy."

Oh brother! Lloyd was up at 6!

LLOYD Osagie, Andrew's brother, was no nervous on the day of his sibling's World Indoor Championships final he was up at 6.30am – a full eight hours before the start of the big race.

Lloyd, left, tweeted: "I may be a little bit too excited about my bro's race. I've been up since half 6! His race isn't till 2:20pm!"

"Well done, Andrew. So proud of you."

Colleagues and coaches lined up to pay tribute to Andrew. Here's some of them:

DAVE BAUER (Harlow Athletic Club men's team captain): "To make the final was a great achievement in itself but to then take advantage of the fact that several of the big names failed to qualify for the final and run the perfect race to suit himself and walk away with a World Indoor bronze medal – that was just a truly awesome display!"

"I know all of Andy's former team-mates at Harlow Athletic Club are stoked with his deserved medal. I'm so pleased for him.

JOHN STOW (one of Osagie's first coaches at Harlow AC): "I am very proud of what Andrew has achieved. When I first took the lad on as a 15-year-old I knew then he would be a world class athlete. He ranked 9th in UK for U-17s in his first year in the sport and has never looked back."

CATH BAUER (Harlow AC treasurer): "We all knew from the age of 14 that Andy had the potential to go a long way and now he has."

GB runner's fears after fall in heat at World Champs

HARLOW athlete Andrew Osagie feared he had not even made the 800m semi-final after an anxious wait to see if he had qualified from his heat on Friday at the World Indoor Championships in Turkey.

After clocking 1 minute 49.73 seconds, he was third but eventually made it through as the fastest third-placed runner from the heats.

Osagie (24), who is coached by former GB athlete Craig Winrow, then knew he had to improve dramatically in order to make the final.

Anxious Osagie said after his heat: "I got a slight knock in the last few metres when I was trying to squeeze second or first [in the heat]. Hopefully it's quick enough to get through but it's frustrating not to have qualified automatically."

He then produced a tactically-sublime semifinal run on Saturday to qualify in second place.

The Harlow Athletic Club member, who on paper was ranked lower than most of his opponents, crossed the line in second to Ethiopian Mohammed Aman in 1:48.13 to book his place in Sunday's final.

"I knew I had to give it my all. No point in saving it for the final if you're not in it. I probably could have won it, but I was too busy making sure I got second," he said straight after this race. "I'm so happy to be through to my first World senior final."

Osagie has been dogged by injury over the last couple of years and has even picked up knocks this season, but hopes that is all behind him now.

"My preparation hasn't been ideal but it never is.

"I've had all sorts of injury troubles but that's always the case, I'd be worried if I was completely injury free all winter."

Osagie only reached the semi-final two years ago when he competed at the last World Indoor Championships in Qatar, which was still a huge achievement for the then 22-year-old.

He was fourth in the European Indoor Championships a year ago, but Sunday's bronze medal was by far his greatest achievement.

Humble athlete a role model to young people >> comment

by Alan Scott

THE expenses at the Harlow Star might not quite have stretched to me covering the exploits of Harlow's Andrew Osagie live in Istanbul, but I'm sure I was one of thousands of proud town residents glowing with pride as the 800m runner claimed his bronze medal on Sunday.

Watching the World Indoor Athletics Championships on Channel 4 with my nine-year-old son Josh and his cousin Harrison, I can't tell you the excitement – and noise – in my house as the thrilling story unfolded.

It looked as though Osagie was going to finish last at one stage, but he timed his run to perfection to snatch the bronze from the highly-rated Pole Adam Kszczot.

There was pandemonium as we all jumped up and down as Osagie breezed past Kszczot and crossed the line in third.

This from a runner who was not even expected to make the final! Having covered Osagie's exploits for this newspaper since he was a teenager, it's a great feeling to see such a talented but humble man triumph despite the adversity of the injuries he has picked up over the last few years.

Osagie, who is also a second dan black belt holder in karate, is an example to everyone in life – certainly sports men and women. He has never given up and refused to be down despite missing big events through injury.

Born in 1988 to a Nigerian father and English mother, he is a perfect role model for young people.

From his early years competing for Harlow Athletic Club and training at the old Sportcentre track in Hammarskjold Road, he has shown what an amazing talent he is and made rapid progress over the last few years.

Osagie, a former Leventhorpe School student, represented England at the 2010 Commonwealth Games in India and went on to secure a semi-final place at his first ever World Indoor Championships in Qatar two years ago.

He was fourth in the final of the 800m at the European Championships in Paris last year. Now he can look forward to the European Championships in Helsinki, Finland which start on June 27.

But his main focus will be on the Olympic Games in London in August.

Prior to last weekend, he was just hoping to represent Team GB at the greatest show on earth.

But the whole athletics world will now have woken up to the talent of Andrew Osagie after the weekend's events.

Now he will know he is good enough to not only make the Olympic final, but bring a medal back to Harlow.

All of Harlow will be rooting for you, Andrew.

THE Olympics are coming to Harlow – almost!

The 2012 showpiece might be taking place a 20-minute train ride from Harlow in Stratford, but the dope-testing will actually take place at the GlaxoSmithKline site off Third Avenue on the Pinnacles estate.

And the white water rafting competition will take place just a few short miles away from Harlow at Waltham Cross in August.

The Olympic torch will even pass through Harlow on its way to the main venue in Stratford in time for the opening ceremony.

Last Friday, a special seminar hosted by Harlow MP Robert Halfon was held at leisurezone to look at the impact the Olympics and Paralympics will have on the town and how it can boost tourism.

Paralympic gold medallist Noel Thatcher MBE, Olympic shooting hopeful and Commonwealth Games medallist James Huckle and Paralympic athlete Anne Strike, all from Harlow, spoke at the seminar.

Various organisations also revealed their plans and hopes for the games.

These included Dr Steve Day, vice-president at GSK, Mike Jackson, chairman of the President's Sporting Club, Tim Hawkins from Stansted Airport – which will be the place where the vast majority of athletes and fans from overseas will land to attend the games – as well as security expert Martin Jackson, who gave a fascinating insight into how his company will prevent terrorism at the Olympics.

Hearts4Harlow, a venture uniting the faiths operating in Harlow, also spoke about its plans to accommodate within the town many of the foreign people who will attend the showpiece.

Essex County Council spokesman Jason Fergus highlighted how it was taking advantage of the biggest sporting event to hit these shores since the World Cup in 1966.

Sports Editor ALAN SCOTT was among a packed audience listening intently to the plans of the movers and shakers in Harlow and beyond as, with only 196 days to go, we gear up for the greatest show on earth.

Strike upbeat over chances for GB

PARALYMPIAN Anne Wafula Strike is battling hard to make the Great Britain team for this year's big event in September.

The 42-year-old wheelchair athlete, of Willowfield in Harlow, is determined to make the GB team.

She said: "I'm still hoping to make the team. I will find out in the first week in July. I remember [at the Paralympics] in Athens it was so amazing. It was my first Paralympics.

"I have been given bad names and been called a cripple, but this was the first time I could see myself not as a disabled person. They don't see you as disabled – they see the ability in you."

Wafula Strike competed at the Paralympics in Athens in 2004, but missed out on the Beijing Games in 2008.

Catching cheats a vital role for Harlow firm

PHARMACEUTICAL giant GlaxoSmithKline, based in Harlow, has one of the most important roles at this year's Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Its state-of-the-art site off Third Avenue will be making sure there are no drugs cheat at the 2012 showpiece in London.

Athletes' specimens will be whizzed up the M11 motorway from the various sites in London – or in the case of the White Water Rafting Centre possibly just up the Crooked Mile through Waltham Abbey up to the Pinnacles – as scientists from King's College London carry out the dope testing.

Dr Steve Day, vice-president at GSK, explained the importance of this pioneering venture at leisurezone on Friday. It will be the very first time a private company has had such a role at the Olympics and Paralympics.

Some 6,000 samples will be tested at the Harlow venue.

"It takes skill and speed. We need to protect the athletes and stop drug taking in its tracks," said Dr Day.

"There will be more tests carried out than at any previous games. One hundred and fifty scientists from around the world will be [at GSK]. The Olympic committee will get the samples and then take action.

"This is a hugely important activity and it's taking place in Harlow. GSK has been in Harlow for 50 years. All that testing is happening in your town.

"When the games have finished we don't want you to hear about what we've done. If you do, something has gone wrong with the athletes or the process."

Dr Day added: "It's an incredible privilege for GSK to be involved in this. It's a real honour. Harlow will be the place where all the sports testing will be done from April. Our mission is to make the 2012 Olympics the cleanest Games possible.

"The spotlight is going to be on this town as we get closer to the games. This stops the people that want to cheat – they will be caught.

"Be proud that this is going on in your town. It's hugely important."

Thatcher: Town's 2012 capital gains

By ALAN SCOTT

AWE-inspiring is the only way to describe the footage of Noel Thatcher winning one of his gold medals at the Paralympics.

At an Olympics seminar held at Harlow's leisurezone on Friday, a captivated audience was shown the exploits of the five-times Paralympic gold medal winning partially-sighted runner, before he spoke about how excited he is that the 2012 showpieces are coming to our doorstep.

Harlow Athletic Club and Harlow Running Club member Thatcher (46) is now patron of the charity Vision and is an icon of disabled sport.

He's so famous and well respected he was actually at Buckingham Palace yesterday (Wednesday) when he had tea with Sophie, Countess of Wessex. She is a global ambassador for the IAPB (International Association for Preventable Blindness), which he is involved with.

It is a far cry from when he was getting ready to compete at his first Paralympic Games in New York back in 1984.

He said: "There was no lottery funding when I was training. I was self-funded and I got help from the [Harlow] community.

"I got money from pensioners. One old lady even handed me a cheque for £20 in Harlow one day. So really, all my medals are Harlow's medals."

Thatcher won 42 gold medals in total in a glittering career which saw him become the first Paralympian to be inducted into England Athletics' Hall of Fame in 2009. "I have been inducted in the Hall of Fame. It just shows how much the Paralympics has changed that I could be inducted into the Hall of Fame," he told the Star.

"It's a huge testament to where we are as a country that we have that disabled inclusivity."

Harlow could have as many as FIVE sportsmen and women at the Olympic and Paralympic Games in London.

Andrew Osagie, who claimed a bronze medal in the World Indoor Championships in Turkey last weekend, has overnight become a favourite for a medal in the 800m at the Games.

Marksman James Huckle will find out in April if he has been selected by Team GB.

In the Paralympics in September, Harlow could also have athlete Anne Wafula Strike. She is battling hard to make the team.

Thatcher, who won two gold medals at Atlanta in 1996 despite having a stress fracture in a leg, said: "I was dusting off my Great Britain tracksuit this morning. You have this pride.

When I was competing at the Paralympics, you let the world in. You are part of an amazing team.

"The feeling you get when you cross the line, you cannot put that feeling into words. Winning a gold medal, you lift the town and give the town that pride."

Thatcher knows these Games can have a huge impact on Harlow, particularly if one of our athletes win. "It gives an awful lot to the town and the businesses in Harlow that have supported you. You justify their investment."

Thatcher finds it incredible that Harlow could have five athletes at the Games.

"When you think we are just a small town in Essex? We have quite a few green spaces. The town was designed for sport. We have leisurezone – people who come to our town wish they had one of these in their town."

He remains hopeful that Harlow will have at least one medal winner but warned: "You are competing in your home nation. There is a huge expectation on you."

Thatcher, meanwhile, will join 11 athletes who will be attempting to break a world record on July 4.

They will seek to keep running on a treadmill for 24 hours. This will raise money for, among others, the Harlow-based President's Sporting Club and Essex Disabled Sports Foundation.

Now for the Olympics

Osagie's 'shot in the arm' with World Champs medal

GREAT Britain's rising star Andrew Osagie says securing the bronze medal at the IAAF World Indoor Athletics Championships was 'a shot in the heart' let alone a shot in the arm for his Olympics ambitions.

The Harlow 800m runner produced a magnificent performance to take third place in Sunday's final in Istanbul with a time of 1:48.92.

Osagie, of Northbrooks, will now hope he can emulate the achievements of Seb Coe, Steve Ovett and Steve Cram by bringing home a medal from the London games in August.

The Harlow Athletic Club member said: "This is not just a shot in the arm - this is a shot in the heart. It's going to be great for London.

"I'm so happy to get a medal, I knew that I could do that if I got to the final. The semi-final is the hardest bit, but once you get to the final anything can happen.

"I stayed calm, didn't panic and I knew that the race wasn't that fast and that I had that kind of finish in me. I've always said that I'm capable if I could get to the final and I've proved it.

"It was my first major final and now I've got a medal and it gives me huge confidence.

"Now it's just full steam ahead until London 2012. It's just the boost you need in Olympic year and it's the perfect motivation."

Great Britain's Aviva backed team laid down a marker for London 2012 with their most successful championships ever, claiming nine medals to finish second in the final medal table behind the dominant USA.

And Osagie believes the nearly men and women came of age in Istanbul. "I'm so happy. It has been such a good day for Great Britain. We've had a great deal of success here and it's because some of the lesser names have delivered," he added.

"You have people who are talked about a lot but then you have people who are capable of medals but perhaps haven't shown it until now."

In an interview with Channel 4, he said: "I would just like to thank all the people at home, my coach [Craig Winrow] and especially my nan and grandad. Thank you to everyone.

Osagie won through his heat on Friday and then ran a tactically-brilliant semi-final to secure his place in Sunday's showpiece in Turkey.

He has now truly arrived on the global stage and has shown the fastest 800m runners in the world that he can not only compete at the London Olympics, but be in contention for a medal.

Osagie was just a fraction behind race winner, the Ethiopian Mohammed Aman (1:48.36).

Colombia national team set to train in town for 2012

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has revealed that the town is very close to securing a deal which will see the Colombian national team training here during the London Olympics.

The Colombian athletes could use the fantastic leisurezone facility in Second Avenue.

Halfon told an Olympics seminar he hosted at leisurezone last Friday: "We have been in talks with the Colombian Embassy to get them to train in Harlow. We had a good meeting with the Colombians last year in the House of Commons." Halfon is hugely excited about the Games and its impact on Harlow.

"We want to encourage people to visit Harlow," he said.

There is now a £2 billion pound overspend on the Olympic project but Halfon says the Games will be fantastic for this nation.

"The greatest sporting event is happening in our country and this is something we should be proud of.

"The drug testing will be in our town. We will have the responsibility for ensuring the Olympics is fair. We are a sporting town. We have got the best of everything here. We are one of the best sporting towns in the country. People can say 'never forget what is happening in Harlow'."

Boss fumes as duo quit Hawks

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman was left fuming after striker Emmanuel Osei quit the club and midfielder Tom Bruno left to join Ryman League division one north neighbours Waltham Abbey.

Chapman received a text from Osei last Thursday to say he was leaving.

Osei claimed he found it difficult to make training in Harlow from his Cambridge home.

Chapman said: "I'm quite disappointed about the way he has gone about this. "He did not ring me or call me about it. It shows a lack of respect for me, the football club and the fans."

He added: "He said he struggles but he has been to every session. I believe it is an excuse. The real reason is he struggles to meet the discipline and how we conduct ourselves at Harlow Town
